1. Statements made by Iron Guardists abroad relative to considerable activity of the Guard inside Rumania are not true. So-called resistance groups in the mountains are without leadership and in desperate straits. The Rumanian Government is infiltrating soldiers and members of the Militia into resistance groups, in order to control and destroy them.
2. It is estimated that about 10-20,000 armed men are presently located in the mountains.
3. Widespread sympathy for Marshal Tito is said to exist in the Rumanian working class and the universities. Approximately 80 percent of the workers are reported to be favorably inclined toward Tito. Soviet authorities are described as particularly alarmed by the influence of Titoism in the institutions of higher learning.
